About the College

The College of Physicians & Surgeons of Alberta (CPSA) has an important job—we make sure Albertans can depend on their doctors.

We register physicians, investigate and resolve physician-related complaints, provide clinical review, accredit health facilities, guide professional conduct and ethical behavior and contribute to public policy affecting health care delivery.

About Council

Council is the College's governing body. It is made up of physicians, public members and representatives from Alberta's medical schools, who set the broad strategic direction of the College.
